

Pipelife is a business unit within the Wienerberger Group and is a leading international manufacturer of sustainable piping solutions for infrastructure, buildings and agriculture, that connect people and communities with water, energy and data, in 27 countries. Our purpose is to provide the necessary means of infrastructure to create a safer, healthy and more carefree living for current and future generations. Whether behind walls, in floors, underground, or at the bottom of the sea, our solutions may be hidden but they are always part of your life. Pipelife employ in the region of 2,700 employees.

BUSINESS ANALYST/STRATEGIC PROJECT MANAGER

With a strong emphasis on economic, environmental and social systems, Pipelife are looking at implementing new product ideas and concepts to create sustainable development and continued growth in the market.

Do you accept the challenge to support future projects through growth, investment and restructuring?

We are now seeking a talented individual to join our team. By using your skillset, eye for business, collaboration and strong analytical approach, you will support to develop solutions, in depth analytics and build impactful insights that all drive business growth across the organization.

Your role:

As a Business Analyst/Strategic Project Manager your main areas of responsibility will be to support Pipelife's COO for the region North. You will support in strategic projects for growth and provide relevant insights to help make the right decisions. To do so you need the ability to drive critical business insights by gathering market research for the industry, competitor analysis, benchmark studies on diverse topics etc.

You will be a key contributor and support the decision-making process by preparing analyses, presentations, data and other documents to the regional management and the Board.

As a Strategic Project Manager your responsibilities include define and run projects, monitor time schedule, planning, budgeting, and controlling costs.

Your Profile:

-University degree in Business Administration, preferably Strategy, Innovation or Management Control or similar education

-2 - 3 years relevant professional experience, preferably from a global Accountancy Consultancy

- Excellent verbal and written communication skills in English to clearly articulate the insights from findings to management and relevant stakeholders

- Advanced skills in Excel and PowerPoint

Personal skills include the capacity to analyse data objectively and logically. You have strong financial modelling skills and the ability to work with large data sets.

You are a team-player and you have an attention for details, a strong customer focus, a strong commercial mindset and innate curiosity.

-Permanent position

-Willingness to travel if required

-Based in Västra Götaland

We offer you a professional, international and friendly working environment with an opportunity to develop in the role and within the company.

Application and contact

You apply with your resume and personal letter.

Last day of application is the 10th of October 2021

For questions and resume contact:

anna-lena.bertilsson@pipelife.com